Bad Design

Why it is Bad design?

- No proper layout and alignment, so the screen looks disorganized.
- Too many colors are used without consistency, which confuses users.
- No clear visual hierarchy to show important actions.
- Overlapping elements make the design messy and hard to read.
- Irrelevant graphics distract users from the main purpose.

Good Design

Why it is Good design?

- Proper layout and alignment make the screen clean and easy to understand.
- Limited and matching color palette gives a pleasant and professional look.
- Clear visual hierarchy highlights registration form and action button.
- Good spacing and padding improve readability and user comfort.
- Relevant background image supports the design without distracting users.
